Immerse yourself in the rich, soothing, polyrhythmic sounds of ancient Zimbabwe. Mbira music has been an integral part of Shona culture for thousands of years.

Patience Chaitezvi, master mbira player, drummer, dancer and traditional culture expert, will visit Paonia to offer an inspiring day of events.

Patience grew up in an mbira playing family, her mother a traditional healer and spirit medium. University educated and a high school teacher by profession, she is a patient and articulate teacher, happy to share her music and her culture.

*Mbira is the primary traditional instrument of the Shona people of Zimbabwe. It consists of 22 to 28 metal keys mounted on a hardwood soundboard, played with the thumbs and right forefinger.
